It feels much more intuitive than previous uses. There are, however, still some adjustments that need to be made compared to previous versions. The Titles Library still seems pretty limited. Title presets and animation presets are not individualized and there are as many ways to decorate titles compared to Filmora. And the program does not support transparent sheets for inserting animated objects. But I see that this program is really growing, and it might get there eventually. I would consider updating if they were just for these small adjustments. I just bought an Apple iMAC this past Christmas. Best decision ever made. Since I take a lot of pictures and videos when my wife and I travel to Europe I've been using another video editing software in my slow Microsoft HP Computer. iMAC came with iMovie, so I gave it a try. It's not working at all. It kept getting stuck and often the application didn't come back from spinning. So I destroyed it, went to the Apple Apps Store and found this great video editing software Video Editor Plus Movavi It's very simple, but intuitive. Not like too complex iMOVIE. Movavi works pretty much like my old Wondershare in my Microsoft computer, but much less expensive. I was so happy with the video I created that I decided to buy it for a year instead of using their free trial. I recommend it to anyone who just want to create a decent video, fast, but with all available if you need it. My video finished right now and started when I started rating this product about7 or 8 minutes ago. Thank you to the creator of thisVideo Editor Plus Movavi. This is a great and very easy to use program. Most of it is self explanatory and there is no need for much help. I like that you can save in several different formats in one resolution of the quality. This is not a super professional program, but def great to do jobs quickly and still have this professional look. Cons, and this is just my opinion, is the effects are not very great. You can't really bring in overlays and screen them to give them a transparent look. There is only one discoloration and that is black. It would be great if they had a white as well as for light transitions. I've tried looking for other domains where I could try getting some better transitions or just any effects for just to hype certain videos, but there is no. You will need a 3rd party provider and then some just won't work because they need special functions to appear correctly. However, a great program to use to be able to get some job done and with great quality.
